Advisory Action

Arguments are not persuasive, and not commensurate in scope with the rejection: The DelStar material is commercially available fusion bonded polypropylene mesh; they have been producing such materials for 50 years – and it used as feed spacer - see the web site: <http://www.delstarinc.com/pdf/DelStar-Filtration-Products.pdf>, which specifically teaches about Naltex ® NETS FOR FEED SPACER. This material is what is used by the Lien reference (Nalle Plastics, which is now known as DelStar). See column 6, first paragraph of Lien.

Moreover, fusion bonding is a process of making, and is not patentable in the product claim.

Arguments about the 103 rejection are also not persuasive, and not commensurate in scope with the rejection. At least the Thalman ref teaches tri-layer spacer.
